

Hayley Sciuriaga

Current roles

Sydney Local Health District (SLHD), Acting Executive Director of Nursing and Midwifery Services. 24 June 2024 –current Key Accountabilities are to promote and enhance professional standards, conduct and practice to advance safe nursing and midwifery practice within the district. Utilise a comprehensive approach to service planning and make budgetary and resourcing recommendations to ensure that high quality services are delivered within the funding allocation. Support the facility and service Directors of Nursing and Midwifery to develop, monitor and evaluate the allocation and utilisation of the nursing and midwifery workforce. Develop and maintain relationships with education providers to ensure the commissioning of appropriate training and development of nursing and midwifery staff.

Sydney Local Health District (SLHD), Director of Nursing and Midwifery Services, Royal Prince Alfred Hospital November 2022 –current

Recent experience

Sydney Local Health District (SLHD), Acting Director of Nursing and Midwifery Services, Royal Prince Alfred Hospital October 2020 –November 2022

Sydney Local Health District (SLHD), Operational Nurse Manager, Royal Prince Alfred Hospital April 2019 –October 2020

Sydney Local Health District (SLHD), Director of Nursing, Balmain Hospital August 2016 –April 2019

Sydney Local Health District (SLHD), Operational Nurse Manager, Balmain Hospital February 2015 –August 2016

Education and qualifications

University of Tasmania. Master of Workplace Psychology	Current (commenced 2024)
University of Tasmania. Master of Business Administration –Health Management	2012
Charles Sturt University Master of Health Sciences –Nursing	2008
University of Western Sydney Bachelor of Nursing	1998